

The diagram illustrates a genetic circuit with three genes: Gene A (green), Gene B (red), and Gene C (blue). Gene A is transcribed from promoter pA and translated into a repressor that inhibits pB. Gene B is transcribed from pB and translated into a repressor that inhibits pC. Gene C is transcribed from pC and translated into a repressor that inhibits pA, forming a cyclic inhibition.